The Trade Outlook

Cotton And Yarn
The New Season
A Brighter Situation

Not much that is of forecast value is discernible in the present business record of Shanghai. There is however, a more hopeful attitude, although there is not very much to sustain it. Buying appears to be lessening instead of broadening. Very few departments of trade can show this week increased turnover or buoyancy in buying. The big gains established during the period of purchasing activity a couple of months ago in commodities like wheat, flour, iron and steel goods and sundry lines are pleasant memories to the merchants, and the steady flow of orders that was so confidently looked forward to has not been realised.

It is difficult to know what has contributed to this slackness in the demand. The change in the Presidency in China had served to make the political outlook uncertain, which in its turn made intending buyers pause. The development of a more cheerful attitude toward the complicated political situation in the North, brought about by a subsidence of the agitation against Tsao Kun, will certainly form the basis for an upswing in the demand for goods.

The preliminary indications of the good trade in the textile industry, however, constitutes the backbone of most of the markets in Shanghai. The barometer in the yarn trade continues to indicate "fair weather ahead" and this serves to emphasise the cheerful feeling which now predominates in the cotton stock market and in the piece goods section. Nobody grudges the cotton mills the good times they are now experiencing. The demand for manufactured yarn is constantly growing and at present prices leave a nice margin of profit to the mills.

SCANT DIVIDENDS

There is nevertheless considerable speculation on the Stock Exchange as to whether the cotton companies will be able to pay any dividends at the end of their financial year. It has to be remembered that these mills have gone through one of the worst years in the experience of the cotton trade of Shanghai. The demand for yarn for the major part of the season was considerably below [illegible] and of normal years, while the prices were at most times unremunerative. Some of the mills have fared fairly while most of them found the going pretty rough.

The new season has served to make the situation look brighter than it has been for many months, and although the demand for yarn is still not what it should be still the mills have no kick coming. Stocks are badly wanted in the interior and consumers who were compelled to dispense with this luxury are now showing a desire to lay in supplies. It is pointed out that were a large part of the country not bandit ridden at the present moment, the demand would have assumed very considerable proportions. With this renewed evidence of improving inquiries for the manufactured article, the local mills are constrained to buy whatever cotton they can secure, as their products are quickly going into upcountry centers.

RAW COTTON DEMAND

The demand for raw cotton is, therefore, very keen but it cannot be satisfied. The Chinese agriculturists are witholding their stocks from the market and are sending down inadequate supplies to Shanghai. This has been giving rise to keen disappointment, for we are just at the beginning of

President Encouraged By Attitude Of Sen. Borah

BRITAIN'S PLAN

General Invitation To United States Is Suggested

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Oct. 31.—President Coolidge today intimated that he is in no way disturbed by the criticisms of Senator McCormick and others regarding America's participation in the reparations conference. Opposition from a number of irreconcilables was firmly expected, but the President is confident of the support of the country. He is encouraged in this by the attitude of Senator Borah, who, in the course of a statement, dwelt on the difference between a political alliance with Europe and an attempt to effect an economic settlement which vitally concerns America.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 31.—Reuter's Agency learns that Britain has suggested to the Allies that a general demarche should be made to Washington inviting the United States to be represented on the committee of experts under the Reparations Commission.

(Exclusive China Press)

New York, Nov. 1.—Commenting on Premier Poincare's views of the proposals made by Great Britain for an inquiry to decide Germany's ability to pay, David Lloyd George, former premier of Great Britain, today declared that if France's stand meant that there would be no reduction in reparations then there would be no inducement for Germany to do anything.

He said that the only proper adjustment would be to have Germany do its best to pay up, but otherwise she would "sit down like a tadpole in the mud."

LLOYD GEORGE PLEADS FOR U.S. AID FOR EUROPE

"Don't Let Europe Burn Itself Out," He Asks In New York Speech

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Oct. 31.—One of the most remarkable speeches made by Mr. Lloyd George on his tour was an impassioned utterance, at a civic luncheon at Philadelphia yesterday, which he delivered extemporaneously. The speech was couched in fiery metaphor, appealing to Americans "because you are formed in the same image of God as the European and because we are brethern. I ask you not to leave Europe to burn itself out."

(Reuter's Service)

New York, Oct. 31.—Owing to the receipt of letters threatening Mr. Lloyd George, more than half the police force of Hoboken were assigned to guard the railway station tonight when he arrived there, but the ex-Premier's arrival was untroubled. He crossed by ferry to New York and motored to Long Island.

U. S. And Britain Settle Dispute Over Consulate

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 31.—A settlement has been reached in regard to the dispute between Britain and America which resulted from the Foreign Office withdrawing the exequatur of the American Consul and Vice-Consul at Newcastle in August last year for alleged improper conduct in the performance of their functions. It is stated that the officials concerned are now personae gratae and that the Consulate will be reopened within a fortnight.

Marconi Experts Tells Graphic Story Of Long Travels In Turkestan

Major Dockray, Recovering At Peking After Two Years Of Hardships, Gives Dramatic Account Of Erection Of Radio Stations

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 30.—Major Dockray, Marconi wireless expert who erected the stations at Tihuafu and Kashgar, is back in Peking and is well on the highway to complete recovery from an illness that developed as the result of hardships encountered during the past two years.

The preliminary arrangements having been completed he left Kualiuacheng on November 15, 1921. All the machinery and supplies had started on the journey nearly a year before, in a caravan that was probably the biggest in the history of China. Cement and all materials that could be carried on camels went by the grasslands route, through the uninhabited southern regions of Mongolia. Machinery and other heavy stuff such as steel towers were sent by cart along the old caravan track via Ninghsia, Lanchowfu and Hami.

After an exceedingly interesting trip Major Dockray arrived at Tihuafu in February, 1922, and found all supplies there. The first thing was to secure a site for the stations. This proved to be a difficult matter for General Yang Tseng-hsin was not in favor of the scheme and many difficulties arose. When a suitable location had been found a stiff price was asked for the ground.

WORK IS STARTED

Negotiations resulted in an arrangement that was fairly satisfactory and work began. When some progress had been made the local officials discovered that the site was part of old Confucian Temple grounds and the price was raised considerably. The new difficulty being overcome, the erection of the station progressed without any further serious obstacle being advanced, and the work was completed in August.

Just then the Chinese Government wavered in its desire for the general plan to be completed, and Major Dockray waited at Tihuafu while the matter was being decided at Peking, uncertain whether he would proceed to Kashgar or return to the capital. Eventually it was resolved to carry out the original scheme.

Assembling the caravan, packing materials and fodder, mapping out the routes and stopping places for carts and camels and deciding upon the quantities of food and water to be carried on from various places entailed much labor and thought. The fact that these arrangements proved entirely satisfactory speaks well for the organising ability of Major Dockray. The double caravan consisting of 12,000 camels and 117 carts, each of the latter pulled by four ponies, started on its long and difficult trek on Armistice Day, 1922.

MAKE GOOD SPEED

Major Dockray made his headquarters with the Cart Column, but being well mounted was able to ride with the camels at will and see that all went well with both parts of the caravan. The carts still followed the broad, hard way while the camels travelled by narrower tracks where water was more plentiful, never having to go more than three days without water. This enabled the camel transport to make good speed. They averaged over two miles an hour with loads of about 400 lbs., travelling principally at night. Some succumbed to hardships, and the loss of ponies was about the same, but the ten percent of spares proved ample to make good the losses in both. The camels

THREE JAPANESE ATTACK POLICE IN YANGTSZEPOO

Navy Men Sent Back To Ship For Punishment

Japanese sailors off on a shore party staged a small riot on Yangtszepoo Road Wednesday afternoon that resulted in three of them being arrested and tried in the Japanese Consular Court.

Five sailors came into Yangtszepoo Road from the Eastern Engineering Company yards and asked a Sikh policeman on duty to get rickshas for them. He told them there were no rickshas around whereupon one of the sailors—all of whom had been drinking more than their share of intoxicating beverages—grabbed the policeman by the throat.

The policeman promptly blew his whistle but before any other police came to his assistance about 15 other Japanese sailors, also coming ashore, came running up and assisted their five buddies to beat up the Sikh. In a few seconds, however, reinforcements in the way of other police arrived and three of the men were arrested.

Yesterday afternoon Petty Officer G. Kamiokado and S. Maria and T. Matono, sailors, appeared in the Japanese Consular Court and were ordered to be sent back to their ship for punishment.

AMERICANS WILL AGAIN OBSERVE THANKSGIVING

Committee On Arrangements Is Already At Work

The American community of Shanghai will as usual celebrate Thanksgiving Day on November 29, and the committee named by Consul-General Edwin S. Cunningham is already at work on arrangements.

The general committee this year is composed of Consul-General Cunningham, Judge Charles S. Lobingier, Commander Browning, U. S. N., Captain V. Olsen, American Company, S.V.C., the Revs. Clifford M. Drury and C. F. MacRae, Dr. J. C. McCracken, Dr. W. T. Findley, Mr. J. Harold Dollar, Dr. Anne Walter Fearn, Bishop Birney and Mr. S. Fessenden, Miss Lillian, M. Wilkinson is secretary.

Dr. J. C. McCracken and Mr. V. G. Lyman have been named a sub-committee to make arrangements for the place at which the celebration will be held, and the American Woman's Club and American Company, S.V.C. will have charge of the decorations. Mrs. Gardner Crane was named in charge of the musical program, and Mr. Dollar, Mrs. Crane and Dr. Lowrie a program and finance committee. Mr. Cunningham, Rev. MacRae and Rev. Drury will select the speaker.

The general committee will hold a meeting at which final plans will be made in the near future.

PEACEMAKER TO SPEAK AT LEGION TIFFIN TODAY

Sir Robert Ho Tung Will Explain Round Table Plan

Sir Robert Ho Tung of Hongkong, whose suggestion for a Round Table Conference of all the leaders of the various Chinese factions has met with a splendid response from practically every one, will be the speaker at the tiffin being given at noon today at the Hotel Parisien by Frederick Ward Post of the American Legion.

Sir Robert has been in Shanghai several weeks working on his plan and up to the present has succeeded in securing the support of all factional chieftans with the exception of President Tsao Kun and some of the Chihli chiefs who are still undecided. At today's tiffin he will give a general outline of his peace plan.

In addition to the members of the Legion Mr. J. Harold Dollar of the American Chamber of Commerce, Dr. W. T. Findley of the American Association, Consul-General Edwin S. Cunningham, Mr. S. Fessenden, Chairman of

Not Chaos, But Culture, Is Latest Cry In Russia, Says Famed Dancer Now Here

By Irene Corbally Kuhn

Just a few years ago everyone was talking about the "chaos in Russia." Now, and with good reason, the talk is not of chaos but of "culture in Russia."

When one considers the type of educated, well-bred Russian who is going abroad, either singing, dancing or in one of the numerous theatrical companies which are being sent out by the government, it is no wonder that the word culture has supplanted chaos when Russia is spoken of.

Take, for example, Madame Xenia Maklezowa the premier danseuse of the Russian Imperial theater, who is appearing tonight in Shanghai at the Olympic theater in a program of dances.

Madame Maklezowa, besides being an extraordinary dancer and a beautiful woman, is typical of the new woman of the new Russia. She was the sensation of New York last winter when she appeared in "L'Oiseau de Feu," the charming ballet presented by Serge de Daghileff's company at the Century theater, which created a furore in New York and, indeed, all over America.

"One of the most remarkable things about the new Russia," she said, yesterday "is the longing of the masses for knowledge and learning, and the government's measures to satisfy the aspirations of the people by giving a great portion of its available means to public instruction. Where, formerly, there used to be cabacks or beer halls, schools and theaters have been opened. Even in remote corners of Russia special committees for the advancement of cultural life and the spread of education have been organised. It is the aim of these special committees to help the masses and besides the ordinary methods of education they are using short cuts through the moving picture, the talking machine and the medium of the stage. In practically every town there can be found a company of dramatic or operatic actors playing."

The new Russia believes in the theater, and regards the drama as the greatest means of educating a people long enslaved in ignorance. So firmly fixed is this belief, that the government maintains most of the theaters in the country and undertakes to send out traveling companies. So great has been the success of the methods employed that, according to Mr.

LI YUAN-HUNG PLANS TRIP TO JAPAN, REPORT

Former President To Leave Shanghai Wednesday For Long Stay

Ex-President Li Yuan-hung will sail for Japan next week, according to announcements made yesterday by one of his secretaries. He will probably leave here on Wednesday on board a Japanese steamer. He will make a prolonged stay in the islands and will return to China in April.

He will be host at several receptions and dinners to be held in his home on Route Doumer today and tomorrow in honor of Parliamentarians in Shanghai and agents of the various provinces stationed here.

General Tan Shang-ming, recently appointed Governor of Hupeh, called on General Li yesterday. He denied that he was sent down to Shanghai by General Tsao Kun.

Final Argument In Kearny Arms Cases Thursday

The next to the last chapter in the two cases in which Captain L. D. Kearny is charged with importing arms and munitions of war from Russian refugee ships at Woosung and Gensan will be heard in the United States Court for China on next Thursday November 8. At that time U. S. District Attorney Leonard G. Husar and Mr. C. S. Franklin will make their final arguments for the prosecution and defense, after which Judge Charles S. Lobingier will take the case under study for judgment. No report on the deposition of Admiral Tu, Commander-in-Chief of the Chinese Navy, has yet been received from Peking.

ULTIMATUM IS HANDED GOVERNMENT LEADERS BY SOCIALIST PARTY

Abolition Of State Of Emergency, Stronger Measures Against Bavaria And Withdrawal Of Troops In Saxony Is Demanded On Threat Of Split In Coalition

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, Oct. 31.—The political crisis has become acute owing to the submission of a series of demands to Dr. Stresemann by the Socialist Parliamentary Party, which, after a conference lasting seven hours, adopted a resolution that it would only remain in the Coalition if its requests were conceded.

The resolutions demand the abolition of the state of emergency; secondly, that the Government adopt stronger measures against Bavaria, while a third resolution lays down that the maintenance of order in Saxony is a police task and the Nationalists who recently joined the Reichswehr must be dismissed immediately. Another resolution dealt with the stabilisation of currency and the compulsory sale of foodstuffs by farmers.

A reply is required by tomorrow.

YELLOW RIVER CELEBRATION AT TSINAN TODAY

Big Project To Be Officially Turned Over To Shantung

The Yellow River dyke project constructed for the province of Shantung by the Asia Development Company of Shanghai, will be officially turned over to the Shantung authorities at a celebration to be held at Tsinanfu today.

The celebration will take the form of a banquet in the yamen of Civil Governor Hsiung Pingchih at which the engineering company responsible for the feat will be represented by Mr. Paul Page Whitham, president, and Mr. L. Fred Patstone, Chief Engineer in charge of the work. Both are expected to make short addresses, which will be replied to by Governor Hsiun or his representative.

The project is one of the biggest engineering feats in Asia in recent years and is expected to save millions of dollars and hundreds of lives annually by preventing future floods of the treacherous Yellow river.

The work has been completed under exceptional circumstance. It was a race against time to beat the Spring floods—which the dyke successfully withstood—with Shantung ravaged by bandits during a large part of the time. Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, the American Minister, made an inspection of the work on May 7 and it was while they were going to Tsinanfu to be present at the inspection that Mr. J. B. Powell of The Weekly Review and Mr. Larry Lehrbas of The China Press, two of the Lincheng captives, were captured by the Shantung bandits.

DIPLOMATS ASK CHINA TO SEEK HELP FOR RUSS

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Nov. 1.—The Dean of the Diplomatic Body today presented a Note to China suggesting that the Chinese Government should take up with the League of Nations the matter of the relief of destitute Russians, who are now numerous throughout North China.

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 31.—One of the immediate consequences of the triangular conflict between the Reich, Saxony and Bavaria threatens to be the fall of the Stresemann Cabinet, the Socialist members of which are incensed at Dr. Stresemann's harshness towards Saxony and are now considering their resignation. It appears that Herr Zeigner and his colleague resigned to avoid arrest by the Reichswehr.

The plea of Dr. Stresemann's cabinet, that Zeigner and Saxony by incorporating Communists in its Govenment had violated its constitutional duties as a Federal State, has not satisfied the Socialists, who contend that Dr. Stresemann's action in Saxony was designed to appease Bavaria, of which the Reich is afraid.

The Socialists assert that Dr. von Kahr has sunk his differences with the Fascist leader, Herr Hitler, and that both are in close touch with General von Ludendorff, while Herr Hitler, in cooperation with the notorious Ehrhardt, of intensively training large forces of illegal Reichswehr with heavy guns, distributed along the Saxon and Bavarian frontier with a base at Bamberg and ready not merely to invade Saxony but, in the event of Dr. Stresemann's fall, to appeal to the Nationalist elements throughout Germany to establish a reactionary Government. In such an event the issue would depend on the attitude of the legal Reichswehr.

Meanwhile, the attempts of the Separatists to establish a Rhineland republic with the connivance of the French and Belgian authorities has been baffled by the refusal of the British to permit Separatist activities at Cologne. English correspondents, at Cologne, however, are uneasy about the future, declaring that Cologne may have to join the movement voluntarily as it cannot afford to be cut off from its hinterland.

(French Wireless through Reuter)

Paris, Oct. 31—The Belgian press considers that the committee of experts should consist exclusively of Allied and American, members.

Following rumors of a Ministerial rearrangement at Berlin, Bavarian patriotic associations have addressed to the Federation of the Empire of these associations a message recommending a Nationalist dictatorship as the only means of solving the present difficulties.

In the Rhineland calm is general in the French zone. The communes in the Kreuznach district have adhered to the Republic. In the Belgian zone some incidents are reported between the Separatists and Nationalists at Montjoie. According to press reports from Crefeld the Separatists have authorised officials to take a secret referendum on November 5 to know whether they will rally to the new regime.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, Oct. 31.—A British Note was presented at the Quai

d'Orsay this morning declaring that Britain cannot recognise the independent Rhineland republic de factor or de jure inasmuch as such a republic is contrary to the Treaty of Versailles.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Cologne, Oct. 31.—Yet another new German currency is shortly appearing, namely, the "M mark." It is being circulated tomorrow, when the banks have been instructed to cancel the last six figures of all accounts. Thus the new unit is equivalent to 1,000,000 marks. One reason adduced for the change is that the columns of bank-books are not large enough to accommodate the strings of noughts.

'RUM ROW' OFF ATLANTIC COAST WILL BE ENDED

British Modifications Are Acceptable To U.S., Washington Says

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Oct. 31.—It is expected that the British modifications to Mr. Hughes' proposal for a treaty permitting search for contraband liquor beyond the three mile limit will prove acceptable to the American Government.

It is believed that a result of the British proposals the "rum row" off the Atlantic coast will disappear, for vessels bringing liquor intended to be smuggled would find no safety zone anywhere off the shore.

In the event of a treaty with Britain taking this form it is presumed that this method of dealing with the matter will be proposed to other maritime nations.

(BY UNITED PRESS)

Washington, Nov. 1.—It is confidently expected here that the United States will accept the British modifications on the original proposal for new coastal limits in order to check the activities of rum-runners.

It is currently reported that the British have agreed to a twelve-mile limit in which search for contraband liquor will be permitted. Reports from London assert that the matter was taken up by the conference of dominion premiers today and that the changes were approved.

Other nations are expected to follow suit quickly, thus settling the entire matter. Under the new regulations, it is understood, sealed liquor will be admissible.

Athens, Oct. 31.—A communique issued at the close of the meeting of military and political leaders convened by the Cabinet to consider the advisability of changing the form of Government states that there is no reason to alter the policy hitherto followed.

PERCENTAGE OF EXPORT RUBBER REMAINS AT 60

Stocks In London Rise Owing To Weak Purchases In America

(Reuter's Service)

Lodon, Oct. 31.—It is officially announced that the percentage of the standard production of rubber which can be exported on the minimum duty from Ceylon, the Straits Settlements and the Malay States for the quarter beginning November 11, remains at 60.

Rubber stocks in London have risen to 58,423 tons owing to America at present taking very little rubber. American banks have restricted credits for rubber purchases in view of the very heavy imports, totalling 190,000 tons for the first six months of the year.

Well-informed persons estimate the world's production for the current year at 360,000 tons, and the needs of the world, except America, at 120,000 tons, so that, in order to establish equilibrium on this basis, the total American consumption of rubber in 1923 will be 240,000 tons.

J. Komisarjewsky, another noted Russian artist who is presenting Madame Maklezowa here, it is expected that by 1925 illiteracy will exist no more in Russia.

"As a matter of fact," said Mr. Komisarjewsky, "it is through the energetic efforts of Trotsky that there is no illiteracy today in the Red Army."

Readers in Russia are paying much attention to foreign literature. Then there are new Russian writers and poets of recent fame, the best known so far being Pilniak, Lidin, Sieskin, Saifulina and Mayakovsky. Literary magazines of wide circulation are the "Krasnaya Niva," the "Sinii Journal," the "Ogonek," the "Teatr I Muzyka."

The artistic world of Moscow, the great cultural center, has been enforced by such eminent men of the stage as Chehov of The Moscow Art Theater, Madame Dzerjinsky, Matov, Migay, of the Grand Theater; and Mrs. V. N. Popoff of the Korsh Theater.

The Moscow Art Theater, the principal theater in Russia, retains its well-deserved reputation and continues its great success. The Grand theater, the so-called Little Theater, and the newly-created revolutionary Meyerhold theater, are all enjoying exceptional success. Besides these principal theaters there are numerous labor theaters and clubs in all districts of the Capital.

"The Moscow Conservatory, the Philharmonium and Musical Academy are attended by many students," said Mr. Komisarjewsky. "There are newly established studios of the ballet and of the film arts. Many plays have been staged and photographed for the screen in Southern Russia, and in Moscow the Hanjonkoff Cinema Films Manufacturing Co. has been established.

"The famous Tretiakoff Art Gallery is now open to the public and many pictures have been restored."

Evidence of the importance which the Soviet Government attaches to culture and intellectual life is found in the statement of Madame Maklezowa that actors, painters, literary men and scientists enjoy general respect and good treatment. "During the three years between 1918 and 1922 when Russia experienced the terrible famines and the worst economic depression, the art workers made a better living than many others, as they were provided with food stuffs liberally."

The dancer said that there are a number of new plays written in the years of the Revolution, as well as plays of the old schools that are being staged now.

In the new Meyerhold theater such dramas as "The Night of Martinet," the "Death of Tarelkin," "The Great Cuckold," and others are very popular.

New artists are appearing every day in the world of music. Milshtein, violinist, Miss Raya Garbusoff, cellist, Gerdon, pianist, are names on everyone's lips these days. Several artists of Western Europe have appeared in Russia recently and have had a tremendous success.

Altogether, theater, music, literature and art are coming into their own in Soviet Russia today.

DEATH SENTENCE IS IMPOSED IN MURDER ACTION

The Chinese charged with stabbing another to death during a fracas in a teashop at 134 Foochow Road several weeks ago was convicted in the Mixed Court yesterday and was sentenced to be handed over to the Arsenal authorities for execution.

The case, which has had a number of hearings, produced much conflicting evidence, but there was direct testimony that the accused was the man who wielded the knife. The altercation arose when a number of barbers endeavored to secure money from the accused for the support of the wife of a fellow-professional who had been sent to prison. The accused is alleged to have been responsible for the prosecution.

In sentencing the accused to be sent to the Arsenal the Bench stipulated that if he is not executed he is to be returned to the Mixed Court.

42 FOREIGNERS IN MIXED COURT IN SEPTEMBER

27 Fuscian Cases Formed Bulk Of Assessor's Work

Cases against 42 foreigners who were not recognised by any Consulate in Shanghai were heard in the International Mixed Court last month, according to the report of Mr. F. L. Wainwright, Acting Registar. 27 of the cases were against Russians for insults, assault, motor car infractions, disorderly conduct, returning from expulsion, non-payment of taxes, obtaining money under false pretenses, disturbing the peace, vagrancy and misappropriation.

The more serious cases carried sentences of ten days in jail for S. Scodakoff for fraud, three weeks in jail for Lender Gensbourg for assault, six weeks for A. Ginsbourg for obtaining money under false pretenses, and two months for E. Yvanoff for misappropriation.

Five Germans also appeared before the court. A man named Stey, charged with manslaughter, was discharged as not within the jurisdiction of the court as he was a French subject. E. Wingsilmann was cautioned for disturbing the peace, Karl Markmann was sentenced to three months for larceny, and N. P. Gadjew and F. L. Schaottler were fined $2 each for minor offenses.

Other foreigners who appeared included two Greeks who were dismissed on charges of having made threats, two Letts on traffic charges, a Pole on a traffic charge, an Austrian on a traffic charge, a Chilian, H. Harrington, who was sentenced to three months for disturbance and assault, and Peter Velt, Creche-Slovak, who was honorably discharged on charges of having accepted bribes at Hongkew Market.

FOREIGN SHIPS ARE WARNED TO SHUN YANGTSZE

Should Not Go To Chungking Because Of Disturbed Conditions

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 30.—With reference to Reuter's message of yesterday reporting upon the disturbed conditions on the Upper Yangtsze, it is learned that the foreign consuls at Hankow have been advised by the Commissioner of Foreign Affairs that foreign ships should not proceed to Chungking. In this connection it is worthy of note that complaints have been made that British and American vessels have declined to carry Chinese passengers on the Upper passengers have developed recently experienced when such passengers have developed truculent militarists who wished the ship to be utilised for some scheme or other which they wished to further. Inferentially these complaints would suggest that no Chinese steamers are running on this part of the river.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 30.—It is reported from military sources that General Ma Chi has arrived at Changsha with a brigade of northern troops, and that General Chen Teh-lin, Commanding the 49th Mixed Brigade, reached Yochow on the 29th instant, on the way to Changsha.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 30.—General Chao Heng-ti has sent General Tsen Ii, Chief of Staff, to Loyang to interview General Wu Pei-fu and furnish a report on the situation in Hunan.

Mohammedans Fight Hindus In Temple

(Reuter's Service)

Delhi, Oct. 31.—Armed Mohammedans attacked Hindus praying in a temple in a village in the North-West Frontier Province. One Hindu was killed and many injured. The temple was looted. The police restored order.

Labinsky and Balanovskaya will sing two duets, a scene from the opera "Aida," and a duet in French from the opera "Doubrovsky." Mr. Simziss-Brian will play Chopin's Polonaise and Rachmanioff's Prelude.

Marconi Experts Tells Graphic Story Of Long Travels In Turkestan

covered from twenty to thirty li a day. The carts thus arrived at the halting places ahead of the camels and were well fed and rested while waiting for the slower transport to catch up.

The first week from Tihuafu was the hardest part of the journey. Mountains, passes, rivers and small streams had to be negotiated. In many instances the bridges were too narrow or too frail and had to be strengthened or replaced. At various mountain passes half the teams had to be unharnessed and hooked on to the remainder, the double teams then coming back for the vehicles left behind. Carts broke down or began to show signs of weakness, but an efficient breakdown gang overcame these difficulties with the cheerful efficiency characteristic of Chinese laborers.

RIVER IS FORDED

Perhaps the greatest mechanical difficulty was presented by the River Yenchi (Karasha), a fast flowing stream carrying a good deal of fairly heavy ice. The whole caravan had to be taken over on rafts, which were buffeted by the ice. Here again the Chinese showed their skill and resource and the crossing was effected in two days.

Other troubles by the way were more irritating than these, for the officials en route apparently saw no reason for exempting this Government enterprise from the dues they so easily impose on Chinese caravans, and demands were made for payment of local taxes. At Toxun these demands reached the maximum. There a demand for $40. per cart was made with an equanimity that it seemed to be a pity to disturb. One of the drivers was arrested and beaten for non-payment of squeeze before Major Dockray appeared on the scene.

Passing beyond the mountain region the track improved. The country became more level. Once a week the caravan reached a large settlement where supplies of food and fodder were obtained, the caravan overhauled and necessary repairs effected. These settlements are virtually oases, with barren, unpeopled wastes between. Over these arid stretches water had to be added to the burdens of the ponies.

A LAND OF RUMORS

At Kuchow, the center of a large, fertile area, a longer halt than usual was made, for the animals were showing extra signs of fatigue. There Major Dockray met a Swedish woman living with the Mohammedans. She had been there for many years and appeared contented with her lot.

Entering the Kashgar region the country still further improved. The valleys were all cultivated. Grain, fruit and vegetables grew in abundance. At each town a Chinese official was in charge. Here some amusement was gained by learning that the rumor had preceded the caravan that was connected with the construction of a railway from India to Moscow. The docile and very simple Turki people had accepted this report without hesitation, and seemed delighted to learn that it was not true.

Plenty of game was seen throughout the journey. Antelopes often fell to Major Dockray's rifle and some roebuck and pig were obtained. In the migratory season wild fowl were exceedingly numerous.

In January Kashgar was reached. All material was delivered in excellent condition. Here no obstacles were placed in the way. A site was given by the officials and work began at once. It was carried out expeditiously and completed in May, 1923.

ANOTHER SUPERSTITION

Some discomfort was caused by the rumor that the foreigner intended to bury the hearts of a number of boys beneath the towers, but the efforts of the officials and invitations to priests and gentry to witness the foundation work dispelled this old-time superstition that such sacrifices were necessary for the erection of slender towers.

Immediately the station was finished good communication was established with India and news was daily received from Leafield, Nauen, and Moscow. It was circulated to officials and loading residents, much to their delight. It is worthy of note that the news of Mr. Baldwin's appointment as Premier was received the day the station opened.

KASHMIR'S ALPS

Desiring to make the return journey as quickly as possible Major Dockray determined to travel to China via India, which would reduce the period by half. He left Kashgar in June accompanied only by two Chinese servants. Mounted on ponies they started on the delightful and picturesque journey south. Crossing the Pamirs they travelled through the Native States of Hunze and Nagyr into Kashmir. Rising to an altitude of 17,000 feet at one spit they saw the grandest scenery in the world among the glaciers and mountain passes, but it was too cold for comfort and they pushed on as quickly as possible for lower lands. Scrimagur was reached at the end of July. From there they travelled over well-made roads to Rawalpindi, where they entrained for Calcutta, and without loss of time went on to Shanghai. During the sea trip Major Dockray fell ill as the result of long hardship and discomfort and had to enter hospital, where he remained a month. Coming on to Peking, he reached the capital just two years after starting on this fascinating trip.

Ordinary mail to be sent on the Nellore will close at noon today, and registered matter before 11 a.m., and that to go on the Haruna is closing at 3 and 2 p.m. for ordinary and registered respectively.

the season and arrivals instead of being heavy, are restricted to one-third of the usual consignments of normal years. Not to say that the cotton crop in the interior has been a bad one. It is better than last season and reported to be of better quality, but the Chinese holder is playing a waiting game, assuming tactics that he has in recent years been accustomed to. He knows that stocks of the raw material in the hands of the mills are small and the demand for yarn is growing constantly with the price of yarn appreciating steadily.

Of course, cotton has been keeping pace with yarn in the upswing. The present attempt is to squeeze the buyers and cause them to pay higher prices for the indigenous staple, but it is hoped that the Chinese will not overdo this little game. There is a limit to the prices they can ask for the Chinese staple. Encouragement no doubt is being provided for them by the strength of Indian and mid-American cottons. Should values keep on the ascendency in the local cotton market and the price of yarn rise proportionately the mills would have no objection to paying the rates asked by the sellers. Many buyers are afraid to make contracts for the supply of Chinese cotton for fear that the sellers will not be able to come through with the stuff or render eventually adulterated cotton.

SHIPMENTS TO JAPAN

There has been a fair amount of cotton shipped from here to Japan, but it would seem that the buying in this respect is yet not in full swing. A certain amount of yarn is also being shipped to Japan and more is likely to go there to that destination. The complaint voiced by certain vernacular journals in Japan regarding the manner in which Chinese yarn is ousting the Japanese grade is greatly exaggerated. The Japanese cotton mills spin finer counts, and for some time to come competition cannot be severe between the Chinese and Japanese mills.

Should the present season prove a prosperous one for the mills, there is every reason to expect that large quantities of Indian cotton will have to be imported to supply the needs of the cotton spinning and weaving mills of Shanghai. China, as is well known, does not grow enough cotton for her cotton textile mills and recourse is always had to importations from America and India. It looks as if this season we shall see very heavy drawings on the latter country for the raw material for our mills.

Chinese Boy Is Killed By Automobile

A Chinese bricklayer's apprentice 16 years old was killed Wednesday evening on Avenue Edward VII by a motor car owned by Mr. E. M. Reid, 11 Great Western Road, and driven by his chauffeur. No other occupants were in the motor car at the time.

The apprentice attempted to run across the street directly in front of the car, and was struck before the chauffeur could stop. He was picked up under the car and taken to the Shantung Road Hospital but died from a fractured skull. The chauffeur was taken into custody when the Chinese policemen on duty at the police box nearby stated that both the chauffeur and the boy were to blame.

ONLY A GOOD NEIGHBOR CAN APPRECIATE A GOOD NEIGHBOR

Racing Sharps Will Not Be Surprised If Griffin Is Winner Of Champions

Old Favorites Do Not Stand Out As In Previous Years, Although Old Bill And Shenkolard Have Many Admirers

Will the Champion's winner this year be a griffin?

Stranger things have happened on the Shanghai course and with only three or four old favorites standing out from the many ponies that will attempt to qualify in the events preceeding the big race on Wednesday speculation concerning the ability of the griffins in naturally rife. Shenkoland, the Field stable, Old Bill Cock, O' the North and White Knight are, of course, the favorites of many. Old Bill has scores of admirers who are still light-hearted despite his defeat in the last Champions Shenkolund has his warm supporters. The Field stable generally pulls a winner and White Knight's recent performances have brought him to the fore although some think he got into tiptop condition too early in the season.

To date most of the griffins are merely names—and strange ones at that—but early rail birds who have clocked the griffins doing their stuff around the course recent mornings and several owners and riders are confident that certain of the new ponies will do very well at the coming meet.

STRANGE MONICKERS

The Royal Navy Cup and Subscription Griffin Stakes for 3-4 miles—the first race on Monday—will bring out 54 griffins, fresh from the Mongolian plains and anxious to show Shanghai that they are the lineal descendants of the classiest racing stock that the Living Buddha ever cast an eye over. Ownership of the new ponies is pretty well scattered. Jacoy stable has Anthracite and the Mur Hot stable's entries rejoice in the name of Beans and Uncle Sammy.

Hoehnke and Reir have two entries, Blaiken, and Pgr. G. Gravrigge has entered Brunswick Black, and the Association stable have Castanea and Dichroic. Stephen and Stitt's entry is called Coq Gauloisand W. Dayton has named his griffin entry Day of Repose.

Other entries in the first griffin race are Digger (G. H. Mann), Dinna Flash (Dod), Dunedin (Elkayems), Dunrobin (H. K. Strachan), Friston (Bucromait), Gadwall and Golden Eye (Hardy W. Fowler), High Speed (H. Stromwall), Jimmy (Harry White), Joss House (Talstern), Jossman (P. H. Baker), Mache (Burkand), My Chance (G. D. Coutts), Onoponax (Wallor), Otterburn (R. J. Elias and Fred Sutterlee, Jr.), Tical (Rennika), Tiplight (Mrs. Isabel Moller), Transfer (Risk), Watersmeet (C. G. Mackie and G. H. Wright), and Whiteaway (Whiteall).

The Maiden Stakes of ¾ miles, which will be the fourth race on the first day of the meet, will bring out 44 other ponies for the first race including the following: Ataman (M. M. Sokoloff), Avondale (George), Day of Joy, Day of Surprise and Day of Suspense (W. Dayton), Dity Dog (Fash), Dominionland (Day), Dukesfield (Henry Morriss), Duststorm (Sedgwick), Edenhall (Belinda), Empireland (Day), 'Erb (Stox), Flying Arrow (Fred Sutterlee, Jr.), Gifford (G. D. CALL ISSUED FOR AMERICAN RUGBY MEETING SUNDAY

Fifteenth Infantry Wants Game For Thanksgiving Day

An American Rugby Football team is to be organised here, provided interest is shown at a meeting that has been called for 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning. All candidates for the team are requested to meet at the Race Course at that hour, where a captain will be elected and arrangements made for organising a team and starting practice work. Manager Gallop, of the baseball team, received a letter a few days ago from Captain Steele, of the Fifteenth Infantry, Tientsin, inviting Shanghai to send a team to the northern city for a Thanksgiving day game. The call for Sunday morning's meeting is the result.

There is material for a good team here, if those who know football as it is played in the States, will get out for practice. Mr. Gallop makes a special request that the following show up at the Race Course Sunday: Messrs. Franklin, Tinkham, Neal, Dick Hutchinson, Bruce, Hirsh, Buck Taylor, Hunford Taylor, Maloney, Bills of the Customs, Peyran, Anderson, Squires, Terrill, Gold, Lambe, Wynn Newmaker, Rodger, and all others who would like to cavort once more in the ol' moleskins.

If interest is shown here and the men can get off, advantage will be taken of the invitation extended by the Fifteenth Infantry for a Turkey Day game. Harry Kingman and Dinny Doyle will be glad to act as coaches, and Manager Gallop will look after all the financial details. The main idea is to get the players.

Good Boxing Card At Bellew's Place At Nine Tonight

A good program of boxing has been arranged for the members of the Shanghai Athletic association at their headquarters, rear of Shepherd's, for tonight. Among the headliners who will appear on the card are Billy Tingle, Tigora, Garcia, Eddie Smith, Kyko and some new arrivals. Billy Bellew says the card will be a good one and urges all members to attend. There will be no admission charge to members.

Billy has got his gymnasium in fine shape now and urges more of the members of the association to take advantage of it. Punching bags, weights, exercisers and other equipment has been installed, and to top all there is a good shower bath. Most of the boxers now in town take advantage of the gymnasium for their straining work, and all pronounce it a first class place.

Tonight's show starts at 9 o'clock.

HARRIERS LOOK FORWARD TO BIG RACING SEASON

George Rose Elected Captain; Secretary Reports

The Annual Meeting of the Shanghai Harriers Club was held at the Shanghai Rowing Club Wednesday evening, with Mr. F. S. Bridges in the chair.

After a review of the past cross-country season the chairman spoke on athletics and other interesting matters relating to the Club. After some discussion it was decided that the Club's colors be changed the new colors to be yellow and black hooped jersey and white knickers. It also was decided to have a cross-country race once monthly, the weekly training runs to be arranged by the members themselves. Those residing in various districts in the city will train together and the monthly race will once a month bring all the athletes together.

The honorary secretary announced that he was trying to arrange for inter-club runs during the season and also for new headquarters.

The prizes won during the last cross-country season were presented during the evening, the Club championship being won by George Rose, the second man being H. A Atkinson. The Club begins the season with a small balance on the right side. Two names were proposed for Captain of the Club, Messrs H. F. L. Wilson and George Rose, on a vote being taken it was found that equal votes had been cast for each man, whereupon Mr. Wilson withdrew in favor of Mr. Rose. The Hon. Secretary was persuaded to carry on for another season though he urged the members to elect a younger and more able man to wield the secretarial pen for the Club.

The Following were the officials elected:

President	Sir. E. C. Pearce.
Vice-President	Mr. H.D. Rodger,
Captain	George Rose
Vice Captain	H. F. L. Wilson
Hon. Secretary	Tom. McKenna.

Committee Messrs. J. L. Mears, H. A. Atkinson, A. M. Guterrez, E. Lewis, P. Hyman and C. Z. Chow.

ANNUAL REPORT

Following is a copy of the annual report, read by Tom McKenna, Hon. Secretary:

Since our last report, issued in October, 1922, the Club has had a successful cross-country season runs taking place each week end. Several promising young runners having joined the Club as a result of having taken part in these weekly runs which we allowed to be open to all comers. Of the handicaps run off during the season the race for the "Christmas Cup" kindly presented by our honorary member, S. A. Seth, attracted the largest number of entries, all the Club's best runners took part and a thrilling race was won by Read Hager with George Rose and Jack Mears very close up at the finish.

The race for students held under the auspices of the Club was well supported, there being 83 competitors representing 9 schools and colleges. Shanghai American School furnished the winning team, and this being their second win they made the handsome silver cup their own property. The individual champion in this race was Adam Chui of the Nanyang University Team.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Willard. W. Bartlett, and the Directors of the American School our members were allowed the free use of the school premises during the season, the place being an ideal one for the start and finish of a cross-country race, our members appreciated the kindness extended to them. It was also a pleasure to have so many of the senior students of this school taking part in the weekly runs. Ably coached by Mr. Van Hook and the School Principal it was no surprise to see them carry off the Students Cross-country Championship.

Our congratulations to A. M. Gutierrez on winning the 100 yards Shanghai Championship and C. C. Reneman who won the 440. For the third time our most versatile athlete is entitled to have his name engraved on the "Bradish" cup for this event. Our members did exceedingly well at the Police Sports where these two events were competed for, to use the words of a well known local sporting news writer "The Harriers swept the board in the open events" all the prizes in the open events being taken by our members. This year The Police Sports Committee have numerous open events in their program for their annual sports scheduled to take place on November 3rd, and it is hoped that every member will support this Meeting.

Many of our members are keen on arranging an athletic meeting in the near future and with our past experience we hope for success.

Last season our members had the pleasure of assisting at cross-country races in which Chinese College Students only participated. It was surprising to see what fine athletes they have and no doubt the present season will find them in even better form. A few more Inter-Club runs would, I feel sure, produce some interesting racing and be to the advantage of all athletes competing.

The Club championship over the trying course of about eight miles of road and country was won in splendid style by George Rose with one of our most improved runners, H. A. Atkinson, second.

It is to be hoped that our senior members will take even a greater interest in the future in getting young athletes interested in this excellent and healthy sport—cross-country running—for it is to the "playing fields" to which we must look to produce men with healthy minds and sound bodies and the novice athletes are to be encouraged to take an interest in cross-country running.

My cordial thanks are due to the President, Vice-President, Hon. Treasurer, Committee, and members for the kind support they have accorded me during the year.

I am, Gentlemen, Yours faithfully, T. McKenna, Hon. Sec.

POLICE SPORTS ON TOMORROW; BIG ENTRY LIST

Three Shanghai Championships To Be Decided In Open Events

With three Shanghai championship events on the card and a long list of other competitions which should develop into keen contests among local athletes the sixteenth annual Police Sports meeting will take place at the public recreation ground, Race Course, tomorrow afternoon.

The program is scheduled to start at 12:30 p.m. and will run throughout the afternoon, with nearly 70 well-known local athletes in and out of the force, participating.

The Shanghai championship to be run off are the 100-yards dash, for THE CHINA PRESS Cup; the 440-yards run, for the Bradish Cup, and the one-mile walk—a new event—for the All Sports Weekly Cup. Some strenuous competition is looked for in the century, with Gutierrez, the present holder, and Kabelitz expected to push the pace. Johansson seems to be the favorite for the 440, but with an entry list of ten of the fastest quarter-milers in town he is bound to have some stiff opposition.

The events listed number in all 27 and an enlivening afternoon is assured for all lovers of athletic endeavor. Since the sports are being held for a charitable purpose it is to be hoped that there will be an unusually large attendance for this ever-popular affair and arrangements have been made to accommodate a record crowd. Tickets are $1 each.

Following are the results of the semi-finals run off before the meet, the finalists to meet on the track tomorrow afternoon:

220 yards police championship: Robinson, Pike, Blenkinsop, Macdonald, Slater, Boddy.

Final in hurdles, open event: A. M. Guttierez, J. Kabewitz, C. F. Lawson, G. A. Johansson, W. Baker, N. B. Mohamed.

120 yards police handicap: Macdonald, Blenkinsop, McIntosh, Robinson, Slater, Pike and Clissold.

The five man competition between the Shanghai Football club and the Shanghai Recreation club, the semi finals of which have been run off, has been scratched owing to inability of the S. F. C. to muster a team before the hour set. Thus forfeiting the Dell shield to the Recs.

99,375 Killed, Japan's Estimate Of Quake Toll

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Oct. 26.—The following are the casualty figures compiled by the Home Department in connection with the September disaster:

	Dead	Injured	Missing (Presumed dead)
Tokio City	66,475	38,978	34,821
Tokio Suburbs	1,740	3,157	4,483
Tokio Total	68,215	42,135	39,304
Yokohama	22,440	42,035	3,183
Yokohama Suburbs	5,798	24,336	376
Yokohama Total	29,238	66,371	3,559
Saitama Prefecture	217	517	—
Chiba Prefecture	1,345	2,784	13
Shizuoka Prefecture	360	1,264	14
Grand Total	99,375	113,071	42,890

Some people are inclined to cavil at these figures on the score that they are too low, because they say that bodies are still being taken from the canals and rivers, as well as from the debris.

The officials, however, state that in view of the accuracy of their records concerning all residents those whose bodies are now being recovered have already been included in the list of "missing, presumed dead".

It is understood that to make sure that every one is accounted for preparations are under way for a census of the population in the devastated area on November 15. These returns are expected to give full information as to those dead or missing, those in need of further relief of employment, as well as the amount of damage done to houses and other property.

Japanese People Oppose Renewal Of Russ Parley

(Exclusive China Press)

Tokio, Nov. 1.—The attitude of the public in Japan toward a renewal of the Russo-Japanese conference regarding trade and other problems has been reversed as a result of recent developments, including the formation of the Yamamoto ministry and the earthquake disaster.

The press is devoting considerable space to discussion of the matter. Conservative newspapers declare that a renewal of the conference will be impossible until Moscow's intentions of sincerity are thoroughly ascertained.

Armed Robbers Get More Than $1,300

When the children of the owner of the house at 205 Park Road went into their home about 7:30 o'clock on Wednesday evening they were followed in by five men. Three of them were armed with pistols and once inside they lined up all the inmates, stripped two gold rings off one woman's fingers, and two more rings from two other women, and then ransacked the entire house, stealing money and clothing valued at over $1,300. As soon as the robbers left the police were notified but no arrests have been made.

It was the eighty-first armed robbery so far this year. 46 armed robberies occurred last year.

Legation Golfer Wins Peking Cup

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Oct. 30.—In a very close competition, played under ideal weather conditions over the Golf Course of the Peking Golf and Country Club on October 28 Mr. E. C. Mieville of the British Legation, handicap 8, returned the best score with a net of 158 for 36 holes. Mr. W. Takeuchi, of the Yokohama Specie Bank, handicap 12, was runner-up with a score of 169.

The first competition for the Ferguson Cup was held in 1921, when Mr. C. R. Bennett, of the International Banking Corporation, was the winner, and Mr. A. C. Henning of Messrs. Williams Forbes & Company was runner-up. As the terms under which the cup was presented require, for permanent possession of the cup, two wins or one win and twice runner-up, another competition will be held in 1924.

HAIL PREMIER AFTER SPEECH ON POLICIES

Supporters Welcome Address As Appeal For Fight On Protection

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 31.—Mr. Baldwin's speech at Swansea is welcomed by Government supporters as a response to Mr. Austen Chamberlain's recent appeal for a clear lead and a straight fight on the protection issue.

The Prime Minister sketched on broad lines the new Conservative social policy, which, he considered, was so comprehensive as to command the support of most people in the country, comprising, firstly, peace at home and abroad; secondly, that our national savings should be adequate to furnish capital for the renewal and extension of machinery and production; thirdly, that employers and workers should not be unfairly exposed to the merciless attack of foreign competitors and should be shielded by high tariffs; fourthly, to do the utmost to check the one-sided development of industries, which has drawn millions of people from the land and upset healthy proportions between the urban and the rural population; and fifthly, that every effort should be made to avoid a reduction in the standard of life of the masses of the population. He did not expect much support from Liberalism but anticipated support from orthodox Labor because Labor was naturally protectionist.

The Marquess of Salisbury, in a speech in London, was not so enthusiastic on the subject of protection as Mr. Baldwin and Sir Laming Worthington-Evans. He said that while, he favored an anti-dumping policy, he had an open mind on the subject of protecting the home market. They must remember the difficulties of adopting protection as a permanent policy, connected partly with food. The speaker deprecated an early dissolution in view of the acute foreign crisis.

WOMAN'S CLUB TO HAVE REGULAR MEETING TUESDAY

The regular general meeting of the American Woman's Club will be held next on Tuesday afternoon at Headquarters, tea being served at four o'clock and the program opening at five. The Civic Department, which is in charge of the meeting, has arranged a diversified afternoon which is sure to prove of such interest to all members that even the Races will be foregone in its favor.

As is known, the Shanghai Horticultural Society, is extending its scope and will welcome the co-operation of the Gardening Departments of the women's organisations of the town. Mrs. Durafect, honorary secretary of the Ladies' Committee of the Society will explain its aims and meaning.

The scope of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and the part the American Woman's Club of Shanghai may play therein will be presented by Mrs. H. B. Lane, chairman of the Legislative Committee of this department and Mrs. H. B. Peirce will speak on "The Citizenship of Women" with special reference to the responsibilities and privileges of American women abroad. Opportunity for discussion of these topics which are of vital concern to Shanghai women will be afforded and a large attendance is desired.

MAH-JONGG PARTY

The mah-jongg and bridge tea to be given by the Art Department of the American Woman's Club on the afternoon of November 12 from four to seven o'clock will feature some original ideas in the table decorations and the refreshments, which will vary from the usual tea served at the rooms. Tickets are $1.50 apiece or $6 for a table and reservations should be made in advance to ensure securing a table. The Gunboat Policy

(Central China Post)

In the earlier years, when foreign life and property was respected in China, and when it was possible to travel to all parts of the country with a sense of perfect security, it was due, not to any deeper love which the Chinese then had for the intruding stranger than they now possess, but to the existence of what was known as the gunboat policy. This policy is now held in disrepute as something to be ashamed of, and most undeservedly so. It consisted in nothing more than freedom of action being allowed to His Majesty's civil and naval authorities on the spot to use the gunboat for the protection of foreign lives and interests, should the necessity arise, and the presence of a gunboat on river was no more a threat to law-abiding Chinese than the sight of a policeman on the street. We cannot recall a single instance of a shot being fired by a gunboat in connection with any friction which took place during all those years; the knowledge that this particular argument would be resorted to in the case of need was quite sufficient to render resort to it unnecessary. But a conviction that the gunboat cannot, or will not, be used on any occasion, no matter what may be done to the foreigners, has replaced the former wholesome knowledge in the native mind and hence the liberties that are now taken. Foreign warships they regard as being in the same category as good little children of whom it is said they should be seen but not heard.

The Chinese are perfectly right in believing that the gunboat policy has been foresworn. All the members of the League of Nations have definitely bound themselves to refrain from all acts of aggression against another member, and in connection with the Washington Conference special provisions where made to secure that none of the Powers represented there should indulge in warlike demonstration against China. Although it was no doubt understood China would behave herself as civilized people are accustomed to do; that she would observe all her treaties and protect the nationals of other countries in the same way as these are accustomed to protect the Chinese who may be resident in their midst. Unfortunately the Chinese have the idea that they can claim all the advantages and immunities, which have been granted to them under a particular understanding, while neglecting to fulfil any of the obligations which are indispensable to give validity to her claim. That such a possibility was overlooked when the documents mentioned were approved of is a serious flaw in them, but since no one who declines to pay the price can rightfully claim the goods, China should be plainly told that the immunities on which she relies are hers no longer. The gunboat policy can be readily represented as that aggression which is forbidden, but the reply to any such outcry would naturally be that if China does not want it she has only to behave herself.

Another idea which rules out the gunboat policy in these days is that it cannot be fallen back upon without the risk of war. All the nations are warweary and greatly alarmed lest there should be any fresh outbreak. They are like the man who once had an interview with a snake and could never again look on a rope without being frightened it would bite him. But to take firm measures with China in order to compel her to fulfil her obligations, need not lead to war, and even if it did there need be no great anxiety about it. It is not as if the whole of the country would be involved but only the particular spot where the measures were found to be necessary. It has never been the custom in this country for one district to take upon its shoulders the troubles of another district. During the Chino-Japan war there were two fleets, known as the Nan Yang and the Pei Yang Quadrons. The latter was under Li Hung-chang of Tien tsin and was sent out to fight while the former belonged to Liu Kun-yi of Nanking. Li wanted Liu to send his fleet to reinforce that of the Pei Yang, but it never left the Yangtse. H. E. Liu said that the fighting was H. E. Li's affair and, if he were to send his fleet into it, it might get smashed up and then who would pay the bill? Further, any gunboat policy measures that might be taken would have for their object a purpose which would recommend itself to the minds of the people as just and right, such as the putting down of firing on foreign steamers, or the rescue of foreign captives from the hands of bandits.

Another objection to the gunboat policy is that the adoption of it would endanger the safety of all the foreigners who are scattered abroad throughout the whole country. In the early days this danger did not exist to any marked extent because foreigners were few in number and practically all confined to the ports. We do not believe that it exists now. As long as the foreigners in inland districts give no cause of offense the people are not likely to interfere with them, nor the officials either lest they should bring trouble on their own heads. During the war between France and China in 1885, when the French destroyed the Chinese fleet in Foochow harbour, there were several Frenchmen resident in Hankow, and they never received so much as an ugly word. It does not follow that because a gunboat sees fit to reply to the fire of a lot of rowdy soldiers on the Upper Yangtse, the people either there or elsewhere will take it to heart. They are far more likely to heartily applaud the action.

Then there is the sentimental argument that China should be allowed an opportunity to work out her own salvation, accompanied with many stories of how troubles prevailed in other countries in times of change. This is all very well but we are entitled to object to the salvation being worked at our expense. That the crowd is feeling cold is no reason why our house should be burned down to warm them, or because they are hungry our bread should be plundered to feed them. Before submitting we are quite entitled to resort to a gun.

Anglo-Java Buys Large Tea Acreage

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 30.—A large acquisition of tea estates in Java during the past two years, at an average price of £26 per acre, was mentioned by Mr. Strutt, presiding at the annual meeting of the Anglo-Dutch Estates. Mr. Strutt foreshadowed the early issue of debentures to the value of £500,000, and declared that, if the price of rubber exceeded eighteen pence per lb. the Company would hold itself free to abandon further restriction.

Conseil d'Administration Municipale de la Concession Francaise de Changhai

NOTICE

MUNICIPAL LOAN OF 1923

8.000 debentures of Tls. 100 each
(issued at Tls. 97 each)

Rate of interest 6% per annum

The "Conseil d'Administration Municipale de la Concession Francaise de Changhai" hereby invite subscriptions for 8.000 debentures of Tls. 100 each, issued at Tls. 97 each according to the resolution passed at their General Meeting on the 14th May 1923.

The conditions on which the Debenture Certificates will be issued are:

1°.—The Debenture Certificates are transferable, and the person whose name is entered in the Register of Debenture Certificate or Certificates, shall alone be recognised and treated by the Council as the lawful and rightful holder and owner of such Debenture Certificate or Certificates.

2°.—The Debentures will be issued at Tls. 97 each.

3°.—The Debentures will be redeemable at par (Tls. 100 each) in not less than 10 years and not more than 30 years, from 1st December 1923 and according to the figures determinated by the Council.

4°.—The Debentures will bear interest at 6% per annum, payable on the 31st day of May and 30th day of November in each year, when interest warrants will be issued to the registered owners.

5°.—The Debenture Certificates will be issued and bear interest from 1st July 1923.

6°.—Applications for Debentures will be received at the Secretary's Office, Rue du Consulat, from June 20 next. A cheque representing the amount of debentures asked for and payable on June 30th must be deposited at the same time.

7°.—Applications for Debentures under 97 will not be recognised by the Council.

8°.—For further informations, apply to Mr. P. Legendre, Secretary, French Municipal Council.

Shanghai, 31st May 1923.

By Order,
P. LEGENDRE
Secretary.

If you have business in the Far East—

THE kind of a bank you need to help you is one whose business is exclusively of the Far East—

A BANK whose name and reputation will win the respect and confidence of your customers—a bank that is versed in the methods of the East; that knows its customs and markets—a bank that is your experienced business counsellor as well as your financial agent.

Such a Bank is the
EQUITABLE EASTERN BANKING CORPORATION

ORGANISED and managed by the officers and directors of The Equitable Trust Company of New York, it will give you the same prestige abroad and the same personal service that distinguishes the parent organization—with the added convenience of a separate bank devoted exclusively to Oriental business.

Call at our New York or Shanghai Offices, and let us tell you how we can help you.

Col. Harvey Sails For America Nov. 3

(Reuter's Service)

London, Oct. 30—The American Ambassador, Colonel Harvey, will sail for New York on November 3.

True Test of Merit

You judge a man not by what he promises to do, but by what he has done. That is the only true test. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy judged by this standard has no superior. People everywhere speak of it in the highest terms of praise. For sale everywhere.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

November 1, 1923

Apot and forward bar silver were each down ⅛d. in London yesterday. The New York price declined to 63⅝ cents and the London-New York cross rate to 448⅝.

The only changes in our official quotations here today were a rise in the Franc rate to 1170 and a drop in the Rupee rate to 218½. Our market here today was on the easy side with speculatous buyers.

There were, however, generally sellers of Sterling at 3s. 1⅛d. November, 3s. 1⅛d. December and 3s. 1d. January. There were sellers of Gold Dollars at 69½ for near and forward deliveries and sellers of Yen at 70⅛.

Speculators bought a fair amount at these rates and banks were deep buyers at a fraction higher. Banks were quoting 3s. 1⅜d., 71¼ and 1215 for Sterling, Gold Dollar and Franc bills respectively.

China sold silver in London yesterday and India bought a small amount, the market closing easy. New York report their market as dull and steady.

Freight Market

In their fortnightly report on the freight market, Messrs. Wheelock and Company write as follows:

There is little of importance in the Export trade from China to Europe and America.

Shipments of Tea are becoming smaller but Silk shipments remain fair. Walnuts in small quantities from the North are going forward.

There is ample tonnage on the various berths to meet shippers' requirements but generally speaking market remains dull.

TO UNITED STATES VIA PACIFIC

No change to report on this berth since last writing.

COASTWISE

Since last writing the Coasting trade has somewhat improved. A number of fixtures have been made for cargo from the North to Southern ports and further improvement could be looked for were it not for the continued uncertainty in the political situation which makes Merchants very chary of committing themselves to forward business.

Don't beat your husband with a rolling pin. Take him to see "SO LONG LETTY" Be kind to the brute and reform him.

Coal Market

In their fortnightly report on the coal market, Messrs. Wheelock and Company write as follows:

JAPAN COAL

The past fortnight has been very quiet and there has been little or no new business. Contracts for the year 1924 will most probably be negotiated during the next two weeks.

FUSHUN COAL

No change.

FUCHUNG ANTHRACITE

No change.

KAIPING COAL

As stated in our last report, shipments from port of loading are regular. Contractors are being supplied with their usual requirements and a proportion is going into stock as a provision against shortage during the winter months.

Doctor New Talks On Friendship To Rotarian Meeting

"The development of acquaintance as an opportunity for service" was the subject of a scholarly address delivered by Dr. W. S. New, prominent Chinese surgeon, before the Shanghai Rotary Club yesterday at its weekly meeting at the Astor House. Mr. S. D. Ren, head of the S. D. Ren and Company, reported on the work of the public welfare committee of the club.

Messrs. Theodore K. Samming and S.S. Kwan of Tientsin were among the visiting Rotarians and brought the greetings of the Northern club. A discussion took place on the question of traffic regulations in the Settlement, which was referred to the public welfare committee.

Prof. J. M. Coulter of Chicago University will address the club at the next meeting on Thursday noon at the Astor House. His subject will be "Botany and Business."

CHILDREN WHO GRIND THEIR TEETH IN SLEEP

most usually are troubled with worms. Other symptoms are irregular appetite, bad breath, pain in and swelling of the abdomen, irritation in the nose, failure to make proper progress in development. Administered for a few days Baby's Own Tablets drive out worms, and a marked improvement in appetite and general health speedily follows. As a remedy for infantile indigestion, constipation, colic, vomiting, diarrhoea and simple fever these tasteless little Tablets have no equal. They allay the pains of teething almost as if by magic, bring restful comforting sleep in a natural way, are guaranteed absolutely free from opiates, narcotics or other injurious drugs. Of chemists or post free, 60 cents the vial, from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 60 Kiangse Road, Shanghai.

WEATHER

The depression will advance towards Kinsiu—Strong N-Wly winds and rough weather between China and Japan. Autumnal monsoon again in the South. Weather colder and probably fine.

The Yangtsze Policy

THE fact that the American, British and Japanese governments are making plans for increasing the number of patrol boats engaged in policing the upper Yangtsze emphasises the necessity for the foreign countries interested in the commerce of this important region of China getting together on the matter of a unified policy. That the three principal countries interested in the West China trade are not working together is evident from recent up-river news published in the Shanghai newspapers. The Chinese give as an excuse for the raiding of the Japanese ship, Yiyang Maru, and the carrying of some of the officers into captivity that the boat was engaged in transporting arms.

The British authorities, according to recent reports are permitting the Chinese military factions to search the British river steamers for arms and munitions, and according to a recent statement of Admiral Leveson are opposed to the placing of marines on cargo and passenger ships flying their flag as protection against bandits and uncontrolled soldiery. The Americans on the other hand are placing marines on ships flying the American flag, if the masters of the ship request it, and have absolutely refused the Chinese military factions the right to search any American boat. The admiral of the U.S. Yangtsze patrol has given his word to the Chinese authorities that none of the American cargo and passenger boats will be permitted to carry contraband cargo and his guarantee of absolute neutrality has got to stand.

Thus we have indications of three different and conflicting policies on the part of the three foreign countries chiefly interested in this trade. The result is bound to be further confusion and disorder in a district of China which is manifestly beyond the control of the Chinese Central government or any provincial government. The Chinese navy which should be doing this work of protecting commerce is itself split up into "loyal" and "independent" factions and is helpless. Early last spring the American, British, French and Japanese admirals in command of the Yangtsze patrol forces of these four foreign powers held a conference in Shanghai for the purpose of coming to an understanding regarding the matter of protecting foreign lives and commerce on the upper reaches of the river. The result of this conference has never been announced, but from present indications the admirals or their home governments apparently were unable to come to an agreement. This is unfortunate for it increases confusion in a district where confusion already reigns. And to add still further to the difficulties it has been reported that in some cases certain foreign governments have permitted purely Chinese shipping companies to register under foreign flags for protection.

It goes without saying that foreign commerce on the upper Yangtsze must be protected and if China can not furnish the protection the foreign governments will do it themselves. The foreign commerce of this section of China has become too important to be abandoned because of fighting on the part of bandits and uncontrolled Chinese military factions. Therefore assuming that the commerce is to continue and that it must be protected by foreign patrol boats, it naturally follows that a unified policy on the part of the foreign countries interested in this trade would be of immense benefit. If, for instance, the United States, Great Britain and Japan could adopt a unified policy and the various Chinese military factions could be informed to this effect, there is no question but what it would bring about improvement in the whole situation.

The writer is not familiar with the reasons for failure to adopt a unified policy. Doubtless the commanders of the three foreign patrol forces have their individual reasons for going it alone, but on behalf of the American policy which has now been in effect for several months, it can be said with a considerable degree of accuracy that the policy has been successful. American commerce on the upper Yangtsze is a matter of comparatively recent development, but the matter of protecting commerce in disturbed areas is not new to the American navy. As one of the American naval officers recently stated in a private conversation, there is not much difference between the disturbed political situation now existing in West China and that which prevailed in Central America and in the Caribbean Sea a quarter of a century ago.

An Overworked Court

LAST Monday, while dealing with the motion calendar in the United States Court for China, Judge Lobingier announced that, owing to the congested state of the docket it would be necessary to defer hearings of all but uncontested cases until the accumulation of those already submitted could be disposed of. Those whose business brings them in close contact with the Court realise how it is possible for such a state of affairs to have arisen, but it is doubtful if the American community as a whole have any real idea of the enormous strain which the work of the Court is imposing upon the Judge and his staff.

Reference to the minutes of the Court, published weekly in these columns, show that during this year up to date, over three hundred new cases have been filed, of which the larger proportion seems destined to come on for trial; there have been approximately three hundred hearings. In addition to this it has been necessary for the Court to travel on circuit twice this year—to Canton in the South and Tientsin, Peking and Harbin in the North—the two trips taking in all some nine weeks of the Court's valuable time.

In order to save as much time as possible on these trips the officials must travel on those days which ordinarily should be their weekly holidays, and in Tientsin and Harbin the Court sat against time to get through the imposing calendars facing it. Hearings extending over eight-and-a-half hours a day were the rule rather than the exception, and when Saturdays and Sundays were not spent in travelling, the Judge and his officials were arising out of the weekday activities.

We have no hesitation in saying that the volume of work handled by the understaffed Court in Whangpoo Road is greater than that of any other foreign Court in China, and the next important institution in point of the work handled, the British Supreme Court, not burdened with anything like the same number of cases, has the advantage of an assistant Judge which our community has not yet been fortunate enough to secure.

It is true that the American Judge has the assistance of the Commissioner, but the latter's jurisdiction is so limited that he is unable to give much real help in dealing with the large number of cases which require judicial attention. Imposing as the figures we have quoted above undoubtedly are, it has to be remembered that they only give the slightest indication of the amount of work actually done. Figures never can tell the whole story, for they fail to convey an adequate impression of the large amount of desk work done, the digging-up of law, the reading and weighting of evidence and the writing of decisions, not alone on the case as a whole, but on the various stages through which a cause has to pass before it comes to final judgment. It is not uncommon that as many as two or three important rulings, involving a close reading of the law on various points, is necessary before the ultimate decision is reached. Indeed, not only lawyers, but newspaper men who are in closer contact with the workings of Courts than the average laymen, have on many occasions expressed wonderment that the Judge and his staff have been able to handle as much as they do and so efficiently.

It is common knowledge that the Court has been kept going for the past year and a half mainly by the strenuous concentration of its presiding Judge. By various devices he has been able to keep pace with the demands, though these, for months past, have robbed him of that proportion of the day which normally should belong to any toiler outside his sleeping hours. Devotion to his work and the knowledge accrued through ten years' experience alone enable him to accomplish what he is doing. A man new to the Orient would we venture to assert be totally unequal to the task. It would take him at least a year to become acquainted with local conditions and local practice, during which time the dangers from congestion of work would be even greater than they are at present, for if the business of the Court continues to increase in the same ratio as it has in these last few years the situation will very soon become intolerable, and it must not be forgotten that American prestige as well as the ordinary demands of commerce make it imperative that the administration of justice should be reasonably expeditious. The prospect of a continually congested docket cannot but be viewed with the greatest dismay.

The only solution in sight is the enactment of legislation approved by the recent conference of American Chambers of Commerce, enlargement of the Commissioner's jurisdiction, and, of course, the continued utilisation of Judge Lobingier's experience and efficiency.

Commentaries

REUTER yesterday indicated to us in one of the London cables sent out that unemployment is the perplexing problem in the United Kingdom still awaiting solution. The British Premier, Mr. Stanley Baldwin, certainly appears worried, and declared at a Swansea meeting that "he would stand or fall in the cause of fighting unemployment." No picture of British trade can be anything but depressing so long as the people in Great Britain have to cope with so large a volume of unemployment as exists in that country today.

The Baldwin Government has been trying to tackle this problem seriously but the results of these efforts have been poor. To the credit of the Opposition Party in the House of Commons it must be said that they are not embarassing the Government in its attempts to solve the unemployment problem. Mr. Asquith at a meeting of the National Liberal Club not long ago advanced the opinion that "our domestic situation is one of as great delicacy and perplexity as any that I, in my long experience, can remember." Unemployment conditions, on the whole, in Britain, are changing for the worse, and it is hardly surprising that the question should be causing the British so much worry. It is no doubt the result of industrial malaise brought about by the unsettled conditions on the Continent and the crippled state of German finances.

Unemployment is a black spot in the modern economic system, and the only thing that can mitigate it is trade prosperity. In this connection it is interesting to remark that great attention is being paid in the United States to the connection between the trade slump and unemployment and the possibility of the control of cyclical depressions which bring periodical unemployment. Trade cycles are common to all countries, and the prevailing tendency towards a searching analysis of years of depression with future possibilities in mind deserves every encouragement.

According to the British "Ministry of Labor Gazette" the percentage of members of trade unions reported as unemployed is slightly higher than in previous months, but the percentage of unemployed among all workers insured under the Unemployment Insurance Acts in Great Britain and Northern Ireland rose from 11 percent at the end of June to 11.3 percent at the end of July. The more recent figures are not to hand. It is pointed out that these latter percentages make allowance for the inclusion of a "due proportion of claimants to benefit in respect of systematic short time".

A good idea of the increase of unemployment in Great Britain in recent years may be gathered from the following figures: At the end of June, 1913 the percentage stood at 1.9, in 1917 it was round 0.4, in 1918 0.7 percent, in 1919 1.7 percent, in 1920 1.2 [illegible] 1921 round 23.1 percent (excluding coal miners), in 1922 at 15.7 percent and this year at 11.1 percent. It will be noticed that the unemployment figures for the year are better than those of last year and a considerable improvement over 1921. Still when approximately, one and a quarter million of workers are registered as unemployed, of whom nearly a million are men, the problem becomes a serious one.

No wife is so bad she might not be worse. No wife is so good she might not be better. Take her to see "SO LONG LETTY."

As Calvin Coolidge Thinks

Colleges Vital To Our Education—Unappreciated Teachers—Classics Promote Patriotism

RELIGION AND EDUCATION

The individual may not require the higher institutions of learning, but society does. Without them civilization as we know it would fall from mankind in a night. They minister not alone to their own students, they minister to all humanity.

It is this same ancient spirit which, coming to the defense of the nation, has in this new day of peril made nearly every college campus a training field for military srvice and again sent graduate and undergraduate into the fighting forces of our country. They are demonstrating again that they are the strongholds of ordered liberty and individual freedom. This has ever been the distinguishing characteristic of the American institution of learning. They have believed in democracy because they believed in the nobility of man; they have served society because they have looked upon the possession of learning not as conferring a privilege but as laying on a duty. They have taught and practiced the precept that the greater man's power the greater his obligation. The supreme choice is righteousness. It is that "moral power" to which Prof. Tyler referred as the great contribution of college men to the cause of the Union. Amherst Alumni Dinner, 1918.

Education is to teach men not what to think but how to think. Fremont Temple, 1915.

Civilization depends not only upon the knowledge of the people but upon the use they make of it. If knowledge be wrongfully used civilization commits suicide. Broadly speaking, the college is not to educate the individual but to educate society. The individual may be ignorant and vicious. If society have learning and virtue that will sustain him. If society lacks learning and virtue it perishes. Education must give not only power but direction. It must minister to the whole man or it fails.

Such an education considered from the position of society does not come from science. That provides power alone but not direction. Give a savage tribe firearms and a distillery and their members will exterminate each other. They have science, but misuse it. They lack ideals. These young men that we welcome back with so much pride did not go forth to demonstrate their faith in science. They did not offer their lives because of their belief in any rule of mathematics or any principle of physics or chemistry. The laws of the natural world would be unaffected by their defeat or victory. Not they were defending their ideal, and those ideals came from the classics.

This is preeminently true of the culture of Greece and Rome. Patriotism with them was predominant. Their heroes were those who sacrificed themselves for their country, from the three hundred at Thermopylae to Horatius at the bridge. Their poet sang of the glory of dying for one's native land. The orations of Demosthenes and and Cicero are pitched in the same high strain. The philosophy of Plato and Aristotle and the Greek and Latin classics were the foundation of the Renaissance. The revival of learning was the revival of Athens and Sparta and of the Imperial City. Modern science is their product. To be included with the classics are modern history and literature, the philosophers, the orators, the statesmen and poets—Militon and Shakespeare, Lowell and Whittier—the Farewell Address, the Reply to Hayne, the Speech at Gettysburg—it is all these and more that I mean by the classics. They give not only power to the intellect but direct its course of action.

The classics of all classics is the Bible.

I do not underestimate school's of science and technical arts.

WHAT IS LOVE?

IS the answer the same through the ages, or—
DOES Love vary with each generation?
IS Love now, after such a climactic event as the World War, different from the love of the days of our fathers and mothers?

By MRS. C. N. WILLIAMSON

Author of "The Lightning Conductor" and a long list of popular books.

That depends upon what you are. A million people might give a million answers. Each would be right.

Here is my definition of what love ought to be:

My heart's like a cup,
A jewelled gold cup.
Full of my love for you.
Drink all you will,
You need never refill.
Forever I will brim
Full to the rim,
Full of my love for you!

My heart's like a rose,
A glowing, red rose;
It's perfume's my love for you.
Breathe deep if you will;
No winter can kill
The scent of this rose,
The warmth of this rose,
It's perfume's my love for you!

My heart's like a star,
A bright, blazing star,
Whose light is my love for you.
Far though it seem,
Follow the gleam
Beyond rain or snow,
It will shine as you go,
It's light is my love for you!

My heart's like the sea,
A magical sea,
Whose tide is my love for you;
A tide at flood ever
A tide that ebbs never,
Plunge into the wave
All sorrow to lave,
The tide is my love for you!

BY BRUNO LESSING

Voltaire defines love as "the embroidery of the imagination upon the stuff of nature." This, whether one agrees with it or not, is a clear-cut, comprehensive definition expressed in twelve words. Can anyone give a better definition in twenty-five words?

Below are a few short definitions from readers:

"Love is an intangible and unvisible throttle that controls all the good and bad passions of the human soul. Based on sex appeal, it climbs or descends into trillions of grades that life travels on."

—Edna Valentine,
Atlantic City, N. J.

"Love is the invisible foundation of Unity."

—Hubert Lewis,
New York, N. Y.

"Love is a little dagger that cuts our hearts in twain. We look for another love to heal them up again."

—Mrs. Hetty Platt,
Burmwood, N. Y.

"As the sun's rays warm and lighten the earth, so one man's fascinations tend upon another."

—I. H. Korray, New York City.

"If you meet a human or a beast helpless and in distress on the highways or byways and you ease his suffering you will experience real love and gratitude extended from him to you. This love for you will cause a tingle and quickening within your soul and body. That is what I call real and pure Love for one another and good will."

—W. Calve Bannon,
San Francisco, Cal.

"Love is invisible (polen) life's fertiliser. Flowers without ("love") which is polen would perish."

—"Lovcall," San Francisco.

"Love is Celestial Power."

—P. E. A. Molong,
New York City.

"Love is only getting used to the one of opposite sex. Man loves his own soul's reflections—his heart's echo. The roots of Love grow in heaven—location unknown—and blossom on this earth when Love meets its affinity. Shakespeare says 'Love has an appetite and must be fed.' Anybody knows that. True love—a mangy dog following a tramp."

—Louis Jacobs,
San José, Cal.

"The greatest thing in the world is Love. Love is loyalty and sacrifice, forgiveness and service. The one word which covers it all is unselfishness."

—Mrs. H. T. P.,
Newark, N. J.

"Love is the act of absorbing in or pushing out potential emotional energy of the higher or lower self, through one of the special senses."

—Frank D. Bland,
Lancaster, Cal.

For Life Or Longer

BY DR. CHARLES FLEISCHER

Perhaps marriage, too, is a fashion that is going out of fashion.

That is, the old-style marriage—for life or longer.

Or it may be that we are deceived into disturbedness by the divorce statistics and by the newspaper reports of surgical separations-of-convenience arranged in Reno and permanent partings procured in Paris.

It would seem as if the most fascinating indoor sport of the fast set, the smart set and the movie set is the turning of the pages of today's edition of the Marital Who's Who, in order to learn who, today, is whose husband and whose wife.

But, after all, these "sets" are only the froth—or, if you will, the sour cream—of society.

Their meetings and mingings and momentary matings are only the self-indulgent diversions of that superficial element that is in continuous danger of death from self-boredom.

The comings and goings and doings of these fluttering folk are more persistently chronicled than ever before. And the multiplication of newspapers has oversimulated the normal gossip and curiosity hunger.

Fortunately, now as always, the core of human nature is sound. The heart of the mass is healthful. Most of us mean well and do well.

As for marriage, while only occasional couples seem to have given heaven a chance in the making of the match, the vast majority appear to learn how, to make a decent virtue out of the desperate necessity of living together.

For life or longer.

Before the onrushing tide of affairs and interests sweeps them from the common thought, it would hearten all of us who believe in marriage—as, potentially, giving man his most substantial earthly satisfactions—to contemplate the happy marriage of the Hardings.

Their life together a romance; their perfect union; their halving of sorrows and doubling of joys through sharing both; their mutual devotion in menacing sickness; their comradeship and nearness of life in an eternalized friendship—all represents that normalcy of marriage which easily defies the parting of death.

For life or longer.

Your true marriage cannot be ended by the severance of the vital cord.

The beloved passes beyond ken and contact. But the spiritual companionship continues and the influence for good goes on, the departed becoming an even finer, subtler, surer inspiration as a being of the inner, higher life.

The happy, successful marriage of the Hardings is simply a revelation—under the strong light that beat upon their prominence—of that picture of love, joy and beauty that irradiates millions of American homes.

The divorce mills to the contrary notwithstanding.

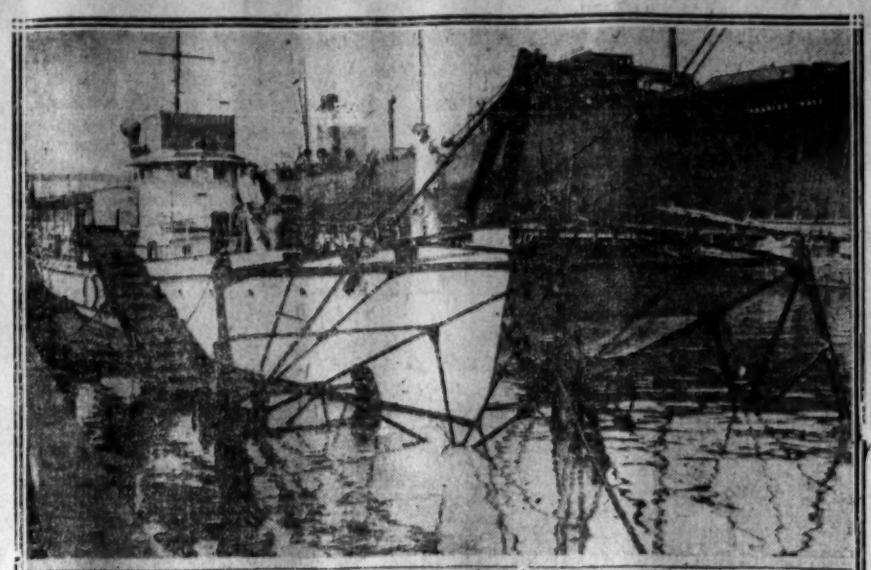
'Harvesting' Fish By Modern Methods



"Demonstrator" wins.

THE boat Demonstrator, a converted submarine chaser, owned by a New York fishing concern, "harvests" the denizens of the deep by the most modern methods. The net, or scoop, at the bow of the boat is lowered to the depth of 15 feet. As the boat progresses through the water the fish are scooped in and carried by an escalator to the hold of the vessel. Those not of an edible variety are used for fertilizer purposes.

Chauffeur Is Given Year's Imprisonment For Manslaughter

The chauffeur of a Chinese Post Office truck which ran down and killed a Great Northern Telegraph Co. bicycle messenger on Peking Road last Monday evening, was sentenced to a year's imprisonment for manslaughter by the Mixed Court yesterday.

The accused testified that he had driven the truck down Museum Road, turning east, and that the accident occurred just a little way from the corner, so he could not have been driving fast. He said that he did not see the cyclist and pleaded that the accident was unavoidable. He had been driving the Post Office truck for nearly two years, he said, and had no previous accidents.

The driver was cross-examined at some length by Assessor Jacobs and Magistrate Kwan before sentence was given.

They have a high and noble calling in ministering to mankind. They are important and necessary. I am pointing out that in my opinion they do not provide a civilization that can stand without the support of the ideals that come from the classics.

The conclusion to be derived from this position is that a vocational or technical education is not enough. We must have every American citizen well grounded in the classical ideals. Such an education will not unfit him for the work of the world. Did those men in the trenches fight any less valiantly, did they shrink any more from the hardships of war when a liberal culture had given a broader vision of what the great conflict meant? The discontent in modern industry is the result of a too narrow outlook. A more liberal culture will reveal the importance and nobility of the work of the world, whether in war or peace. It is far from enough to teach our citizens a vocation. Our industrial system will break down unless it is humanised. There is greater need for a liberal culture that will develop the whole man in the whole body of our citizenship. The day when a college education will be the portion of all may not be so far distant as it seems.

We live in a republic. Our Government is exercised through representatives. Their course of action is a very accurate reflection of public opinion. Where shall that be formed and directed unless from the influences, direct and indirect, that come from our institutions of learning? The laws of a republic represent its ideals. They are founded upon public opinion, and public opinion in America up to the present time has drawn its inspiration from the classics.

The days of the Revolution were days of reverence and of applied reverence. Teaching was to a considerable extent in the hands of the clergy. Institutions of learning were presided over by clergymen. The teacher spoke with the voice of authority. He was treated with deference. He held a place in the community that was not only secure but high. The rewards of his services were comparatively large. He was a leader of the people. From him came the inspiration of liberty. It was in the meeting houses that the Revolution was framed.

This dual character little exists now, but the principle is the same. Teaching is the same high calling, but how lacking now in comparative appreciation! The compensation of many teachers and clergymen is far less than the pay of unskilled labor. The salaries of college professors are much less than like training and ability would command in the commercial world. We pay a good price to bank men to guard our money. We compensate liberally the manufacturer and the merchant; but we fail to appreciate those who guard the minds of our youth or those who preside over our congregations. We have lost our reverence for the profession of teaching and bestowed it upon the profession of acquiring.

This will have such a reaction as might be expected. Some of the clergy, seeing their own rewards are disproportionate, will draw the conclusion that all rewards are disproportionate, that the whole distribution of wealth is unsound; and turn to a belief in and an advocacy of some kind of a socialistic state. Some of our teachers, out of a like discontent, will listen too willingly to revolutionary doctrines which have not originated in meeting houses but are the importations of those who lack nothing but the power to destroy all that our civilization holds dear. Unless these conditions are changed these professions will not attract to their services young men of the same comparative quality of ability and character that in the past they commanded.

In our pursuit of prosperity we have forgotten and neglected its foundations. It is true that many of our institutions of learning are well endowed and have spacious buildings, but the plant is not enough. Many modern schoolhouses put to shame any public buildings that were erected in the colonies. I am directing attention to the comparative position of the great mass of teachers and clergymen. They are not properly appreciated or properly paid. They have provided the foundations of our liberties. The importance of their position cannot be overestimated. They have been faithful though neglected; but a State which neglects or refuses to support any class will soon find that such class neglects and refuses to support it. The remedy lies in part with private charity, in part with Government action; but it lies wholly with public opinion. Private charity must worthily support its clergymen and the faculty and instructors of our higher institutions of learning; and the Government must adequately reward the teachers in its schools. In the great bound forward which has been taken in a material way these two noble professions, the pillars of liberty and equality, have been neglected and left behind. They must be reestablished. They must be restored to the place of reverence they formerly held.

The profession of teaching has come down to us with a sanction of antiquity greater than all else. So far back as we can peer into human history there has stood a priesthood that has led its people intellectually and morally. Teaching is leading. The fundamental needs of humanity do not change. They are constant. These influences so potent in the development of Massachusetts cannot be exchanged for a leadership that is bred of the market place, to her advantage. We must turn our eyes from what is to what ought to be. The men of the day of John Adams and James Bowdoin had a vision that looked into the heart of things. They led a revolution that swept on to a successful conclusion. They established a nation that has endured until its flag is the ancient among the banners of the earth. Their counsel will not be mocked. The men of that day almost alone in history brought a revolution to its objective. Not only that, they reached it in such a condition that it there remained. The counter attack of disorder failed entirely to dislodge it. Their success lay entirely in the convictions they had. No nation can reject these convictions and remain a republic. Anarchy or despotism will overwhelm it.

Massachusetts established Harvard College to be a defender of righteous convictions, or reverence for truth and for the heralds of truth. The purpose set forth in the Constitution is clear and plain. It recognizes with the clear conviction of men not thinking of themselves that the cause of America is the cause of education, but of education with a soul, a trained intellect but guided ever by an enlightened conscience. We of our day need to recognize with the same vision that when these fail, America has failed.
